Micrographic Surgery Course
& Lab Technician Course

September 11-12, 2026

London, United Kingdom

Join us in London for the 5th ESMS Mohs Surgery Course and a dedicated Lab Technician Course.

Mohs Surgery, though practiced across Europe, remains underused despite its clear advantages - lowest recurrence rates and excellent cosmetic results. This course aims to inspire interest, strengthen skills, and promote best practices in Mohs and other micrographic surgery techniques through solid comprehensive training by leading experts.

The programme includes lectures and workshops covering Mohs and other micrographic surgery techniques, lab procedures, indications, and reconstructions, as well as practical sessions and small group discussions.

We look forward to welcoming you to London!
